

ROYAL Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

A GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR BAKING POWDER

It makes the most delicious and healthful hot breads, biscuit and cake

FREE FROM ALUM, LIME OR PHOSPHATIC ACID

Alum baking powders are unhealthful. Do not use them for raising food under any circumstances. So detrimental are alum baking powders considered, that in most foreign countries their sale is prohibited. In many States in this country the law compels alum powders to be branded to show that they contain this dangerous acid, while in the District of Columbia, Congress has prohibited the sale of all food that contains alum.

Alum baking powders are sold to consumers at from 10 cents a pound to 25 cents for 25 cents, or 25 cents a pound, and when not branded may generally be distinguished by their price.

When the Indians Were Here.
With the settlement of Newark and the subsequent development of the adjacent territory the aborigines, the Indians, who sold their lands to the settlers, retreated westward into the forests. The question some times arises, "How long is it since the Indians completely deserted these parts?" Matthias M. Dodd, an aged resident of East Orange, in his reminiscences, says groups of Indians frequently made visits to the white man's domain. As late as 1830 Mr. Dodd remembers seeing a small company of Indians stopping for a short while near his home in Grove street, for the purpose of making baskets to carry to Newark for sale. On buying the land from them an agreement had been made that they should have the privilege of returning at any time to procure material for their work, but that they should only remain a few days at a time. The compact was faithfully kept by them, although the party that we have just mentioned were delayed a day or two longer by the death of a child, which they buried on the spot before their departure for home.

We have been told that they on another occasion visited the farm of John Peck, on what is now Essex avenue, and that Mr. Peck became somewhat excited over the matter, but was assured by his father that it would be best to say nothing, as they would only remain a day or two, according to their custom, when they would then depart in peace, which they did, after cutting down a white ash tree for their basket work.

The Other Side of Things—Profanity.

Some of my readers will recall the story of the dainty miss who arrived in hot haste at a railroad station just after an outgoing train had pulled its last car clear of the platform. At the same moment a traveling salesman rushed up also, and setting his heavy "grip" down with emphasis rolled out a full yard of gaudy colored profanity, shaking his fist at the disappearing train. When he had finished, the dainty miss swept him her courtesy and said with strong approval in her voice, "Thank you sir; you have expressed my sentiments exactly."

The girl would not have cursed out loud as the "drummer" did for anything, but inside her was sent up the very same something that was sent up in the man until he opened his talking machine and gave vent to the pressure, and then they both felt relieved. Had the same pent-up-ness come to the girl over some sharp disappointment in her home, she might have found relief by slamming doors or pounding the table with a rolling-pin or a potato-masher ("wooden swearing").

Of course there is a difference between the two, but I feel sure that he who looketh not on outward things sees no difference between the "saint" who scolds and sputters and snarls over disappointments and the "sinner" who finds his relief in a volley of old-fashioned profanity.

What then? Are we to make no effort to guard against profanity? Certainly! Exactly the same effort we are to make against scolding and other ungainly utterances. Of first importance, however, is salvation from the state of mind or state of heart that prompts the ungainly speech or act that merely expresses the "inwardness of things."

Except in degree of vulgarity, there is no real difference between "damn" and "darn," between "By Gosh" and "By God!" between "By the Great Jumping Jehosaphat," and "By the Great Eternal Jehovah!" Men of uncouth habits of speech and action merely express the same feeling by the more "profane" forms that men of less uncouth habits express by the less "profane" forms, but the "heart" is just as dirty in the one as in the other.

My own most common "swearing" is "Great Caesar!" sometimes, "Great Caesar's ghost!" Another man takes "Jerusalem" as his, and his good wife jests herself with "My soul," or "My conscience," or "It over-polite she gets no further than 'Oh my,' or 'Oh dear sir,' analyzed they are all one—explosives.

The Scriptural injunction "Swear not at all," the nothing whatever to do with these explosives (vulgar, less vulgar or polite), except in the unmeaning of simple unvarnished conversation. "Let your 'yes' be yes and your 'no,' no," means simply unadorned language, and it is surely a relief to find now and then a very earnest person who can talk without the meaningless explosive of "Just lovely," or the vulgar "Damn my eyes," pepping out every few sentences to adorn ordinary emotion, or the stronger explosives of heightened feeling to mar the "King's English."

As for verbal profanity of all sorts and "wooden swearing" of all sorts, the inwardness of them all shows mighty little difference. "Knowest thou not, O man, thou that judgest another; thou dost the same things thyself," surely applies to this.

Mosquito Extermination.

The report of the Legislative Committee of the Conference Committee on Mosquito Extermination has been issued. The report says that the committee has under consideration the claim of Dr. John B. Smith, the New Jersey State Entomologist, that all the marsh mosquito-breeding places within the State can be eliminated for the sum of $315,550, together with his request for $10,000.

In 1903 Dr. Smith announced before the conference committee that all the salt marsh mosquito-breeding places to be found in 3,500 acres of salt marshes in the city of Newark could be drained for $5,000 (less than $2 per acre). Dr. Smith's plan was to dig deep, narrow drains, approximately every 150 feet apart throughout the meadows. These small ditches are connected with lateral drains. "We thought the estimate too low," says the report, "but Dr. Smith found a contractor to make a bid for that amount of money. The Newark Board of Health ordered the work done. The work was completed in 1904, and in 1905 your committee inspected the marshes and found the ditches in perfect condition, with water running in and out of them with the rise and fall of the tide. No mosquito breeding whatsoever could be found upon these meadows."

The report further states that last spring Dr. Smith traced mosquitoes, bred in Staten Island, as far as Madison and Morristown, twenty-five miles away. He told the New York authorities that $17,000 was sufficient to eliminate the salt marsh breeding places on Staten Island. The contract was let for less than that amount, and the work is now well in hand.

The report is signed by Spencer Miller, John B. Thompson and Seymour E. Gilbert.

W. W. KEYLER'S SUCCESS.

W. W. Keyler, the enterprising druggist, rather than await the ordinary methods of introduction, urged the Dr. Howard Company to secure a quick sale for their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by offering the regular 50c bottle at half-price.

The wonderful success of this plan was a great surprise even to W. W. Keyler, and to-day there are scores of people here in Bloomfield who are using and praising this remarkable remedy. So much talk has been caused by this offer, and so many new friends have been made for the specific, that the Dr. Howard Company have authorized druggist W. W. Keyler to continue this special half-price sale for a limited time longer.

In addition to selling a 50c bottle of Dr. Howard's specific for 25c, W. W. Keyler has so much faith in the remedy that he will refund the money to any one whom it does not cure.

When your head aches, your stomach does not digest food easily and naturally, when there is constipation, specks before the eyes, tired feeling, giddiness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, heartburn, sour stomach, roasting or twisting of the bowels, melancholy, and liver troubles, Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not, it will not cost you a cent.

This latest achievement of science is of great value in curing sick headaches. Thousands of women are today free from that painful disease solely through the use of this specific.—Advt.

At every woman's worries
Grins the coal bed with delight,
And adds with glee its burden
While it makes her clothes a sight.

AN EASIER WAY.

There is nothing that adds to a woman's troubles like the care of a coal range. Aside from watching the fire and putting in her bread or cake when it is just right there is the carrying of coal. This is no task for any woman. It causes more backaches than any other part of the household.

A Gas Range does away with all this. It furnishes the ideal method for cooking. There is no ash, no coal to carry. Gas is the ever-ready fuel. Ranges $9.50 to $15.00. $2.00 down; $2.00 a month. Connections Free.
